INTERNATIONAL OPERATIONAL CAPABILITY STATEMENT

International School of Conflict Management & Diplomatic Studies (ISCMDS) Limited | Canada

Institutional Motto: Dialogue Builds Understanding. Diplomacy Builds Bridges. Cooperation Builds Peace and Prosperity.

1. Institutional Overview

The International School of Conflict Management & Diplomatic Studies (ISCMDS) Limited is a Nigerian- and Canadian-incorporated institution specializing in professional education, strategic advisory services, policy research, international trade and investment, economic diplomacy, international affairs, arbitration and alternative dispute resolution, and geopolitical and regulatory risk intelligence.

ISCMDS was established in Nigeria in 2013 as the country's first privately owned, standalone institution dedicated to international diplomacy, conflict management, Bilateral and Multilateral negotiation, and diplomatic studies.

Its registration and licensing process commenced in February 2011, beginning with name approval from Nigeria's Corporate Affairs Commission (CAC). The initiative subsequently encountered significant bureaucratic and institutional resistance from the Federal Ministry of Foreign Affairs concerning the establishment of an independently owned institution specializing in diplomatic education.

Following sustained negotiations and extensive engagements with relevant Nigerian government authorities, ISCMDS successfully secured Federal Ministry of Education approvals and operational licenses in November 2013, marking a historic milestone in private-sector participation in diplomatic education in Nigeria.

Institutional Philosophy | Dialogue as the Foundation of Diplomacy:
ISCMDS is founded upon the conviction that dialogue is the foundation of diplomacy, negotiation is the bridge to understanding, and peaceful engagement is essential to sustainable international cooperation.

The institution believes that diplomacy extends beyond formal relations between governments. It encompasses constructive dialogue among nations, institutions, businesses, and societies, fostering mutual understanding, peaceful conflict resolution, economic cooperation, and shared prosperity. Guided by these principles, ISCMDS promotes diplomacy as an instrument of peace, international economic engagement, institutional cooperation, and sustainable development.

At the heart of its institutional philosophy is the belief that meaningful dialogue builds understanding, understanding creates trust, and trust provides the foundation for lasting cooperation.

Building upon its Nigerian foundations and professional activities commencing in 2013, ISCMDS expanded its institutional presence through Canadian incorporation in 2025, providing a platform for broader international advisory, research, training, and institutional cooperation.

Today, ISCMDS promotes institutional capacity development, international economic cooperation, informed policymaking, effective bilateral and multilateral negotiation, and sustainable cross-border business engagement.

The institution maintains a strategic geographic focus on Canada–Africa and Canada–Europe trade, economic diplomacy, and geopolitical risk intelligence, serving businesses, investors, public institutions, development organizations, and international partners.

2. Core Institutional Capabilities

Pillar I | Strategic Advisory & International Market Intelligence

- International market-entry assessments and expansion strategies.
- Country, industry and sector opportunity analysis.
- Regulatory environment assessment and compliance intelligence.
- Geopolitical, commercial and investment risk analysis.
- Stakeholder mapping, partnership identification and due diligence.
- Cross-border business strategy and market sustainability advisory.

Pillar II | International Trade, Investment & Economic Diplomacy

- International trade policy, procedures and regulatory frameworks.
- Export development, import planning and trade facilitation.
- Bilateral and multilateral economic cooperation.
- Regional economic integration and international investment analysis.
- Trade negotiations, commercial diplomacy and strategic partnerships.
- Research on market access, trade barriers and investment opportunities.

Pillar III | Professional Education & Executive Training

- Institutional training-needs assessments.
- Executive education and professional development programmes.
- Curriculum design, instructional materials and case-study development.
- Leadership, diplomacy, bilateral and multilateral negotiation training.
- International trade, governance and regulatory compliance education.
- Capacity-building workshops, seminars and virtual learning programmes.

Pillar IV | ADR, International Arbitration, Bilateral & Multilateral Negotiation

- Alternative dispute resolution and conflict management advisory.
- Mediation, arbitration and negotiation training.
- Bilateral and multilateral negotiation strategies.
- Cross-border commercial dispute prevention and management.
- Institutional conflict-resolution capacity development.
- International arbitration frameworks and dispute-resolution strategic research.

Pillar V | Policy Research, Strategic Intelligence & International Development

- Public policy research, analysis and advisory.
- Legislative, regulatory and institutional framework reviews.
- Governance and organizational effectiveness assessments.
- Geopolitical intelligence and strategic risk reporting.
- International development research and programme design.
- Stakeholder consultations, policy dialogue and institutional cooperation.

3. Operational Assignment Capabilities

ISCMDS is positioned to undertake assignments involving:

- Technical assistance, institutional strengthening and capacity-building.
- Applied policy research, regulatory reviews and strategic assessments.
- International market-entry studies and investment environment analysis.
- Trade facilitation, regional integration and economic cooperation research.
- Executive training, curriculum development and professional workshops.
- Stakeholder engagement, consultations and negotiation facilitation.
- Country, geopolitical and regulatory risk assessments.
- Programme design, analytical reporting and strategic advisory services.

4. Geographic Coverage & Delivery Model

Priority Regions: Canada, Africa and Europe.

ISCMDS adopts flexible, assignment-specific delivery arrangements, including independent consulting, institutional advisory engagements, research projects, virtual and in-person training, and collaborative implementation with qualified technical specialists.

The institution may participate as a principal service provider, consortium member, technical partner, or subcontractor, depending on project requirements.

Its operating approach emphasizes practical research, contextual understanding, stakeholder engagement, constructive dialogue, and actionable recommendations.

5. Institutional Leadership & Professional Expertise

Julius Atanawhemera, LL.B., B.L., EMIR, ACIArb. | Founder & President

ISCMDS is led by Julius Atanawhemera, a legal and international affairs professional with extensive experience spanning legal practice, international relations and diplomacy, arbitration and alternative dispute resolution, policy analysis, institutional governance, and strategic advisory services.

His professional background includes leadership of a Nigerian legal practice, international policy engagement, stakeholder consultations, bilateral and multilateral negotiation, dispute management, and institutional development.

As Founder and President, he provides strategic leadership and oversees the institution's professional education, research, advisory services, international cooperation, and operational development.

6. Institutional Experience & Professional Foundation

Building upon its institutional foundations in Nigeria and subsequent expansion to Canada, ISCMDS draws upon its professional education, institutional training, research, and capacity-building experience, complemented by its leadership's multidisciplinary expertise in international relations and diplomacy, legal practice, international trade and investment, arbitration and alternative dispute resolution, policy analysis, negotiation, institutional governance, and strategic advisory services.

The institution combines established professional knowledge, practical experience, and the capacity to assemble assignment-specific technical teams to deliver research, advisory, training, and institutional development engagements.

Its operational approach emphasizes professional competence, regulatory awareness, contextual analysis, research integrity, constructive dialogue, stakeholder engagement, and practical, evidence-based recommendations.

Relevant professional profiles, institutional documentation, technical methodologies, and available assignment references may be presented in support of procurement submissions, strategic partnerships, and international consulting engagements.

7. Project Implementation & Quality Assurance

- Defined project objectives, scope and technical methodology.
- Appropriate professional expertise and specialist participation.
- Work plans, implementation schedules and measurable deliverables.
- Research integrity, analytical quality and internal review.
- Confidentiality, professional ethics and information management.
- Stakeholder communication, progress reporting and accountability.
- Contractual compliance and timely delivery of agreed outputs.

8. Institutional Engagement & Strategic Partnerships

ISCMDS welcomes procurement opportunities, consulting assignments, institutional cooperation and strategic partnerships with:

- United Nations agencies and international organizations.
- Multilateral development banks and development finance institutions.
- National governments, ministries and public-sector institutions.
- Diplomatic missions and international cooperation agencies.
- Multinational corporations, small and medium-sized enterprises, and investors.
- Universities, research institutions and professional training organizations.
- Development consulting firms, consortium leaders, and technical partners.

Engagements may encompass research, advisory services, professional training, technical assistance, policy development support, diplomatic dialogue, negotiation facilitation, and cross-border economic cooperation.

9. Institutional Contact

International School of Conflict Management & Diplomatic Studies (ISCMDS) Limited
Founder & President: Julius Atanawhemera, LL.B., B.L., EMIR, ACIArb.
Location: Mississauga, Ontario, Canada
Website: www.iscmds.com

Strategic Focus: Canada–Africa & Canada–Europe Trade, Economic Diplomacy & Geopolitical Risk Intelligence.

SHAPING THE WORLD